7 Films, 7 Stories - A festival of visual stories at JDMC

Lumiere - The Film and Photography Club, Janki Devi Memorial College successfully concluded a two - day International Film Festival, organised in collaboration with Film Southasia and HRI Institute for Southasian Research and Exchange. Over two days, 7 films from all corners of South Asia were screened, along with a photo exhibition on "Challenging the Visual Depiction of Women and Violence in the Media in Southasia". In her welcome address, Prof. Swati Pal, Principal, JDMC emphasised that such an initiative is necessary to ensure holistic development of the students and this has always been a priority of the college.

The festival began with a panel discussion titled 'Documenting Southasia' with two of the directors, Ms. Priyanka Chhabra and Ms. Nikarika Popli presenting their views on filmmaking and storytelling via documentaries. Dr. Saumya Gupta, Dept of History was the moderator for this session, and briefed the audience about the link between films and documenting histories. Ms. Mitu Varma, Director, Film Southasia pointed out that we must work towards highlighting the art and culture of Southasia in the world. Mr. Manandhar, Program Manager, HRI Institute for Southasian Research and Exchange introduced the audience to the exhibition.

The Exhibition was put up by the Lumiere Volunteers, ably led by Ms. Riddhima and Ms. Sehrish and their team, supervised by Ms. Tannu Sharma and Mr Dinesh, Convenors, Lumiere. . The exhibition was very successful and much appreciated by the students as well as faculty members.

This was the first such film festival organised in University of Delhi, and it saw participation of audiences from various colleges. The Films were chosen to educate the audience about various aspects of life, ranging from Gender, culture, language, history, disability and inclusivity. Each film was previewed by the student office bearers of Lumiere. Ms. Raahi, Ms. Anannya, Ms.

Kiera, Ms. Hannah, Ms. Riddhima and others led these sessions by presenting the films to the audience.

The films were followed by discussion sessions, and the students, along with members of Film Southasia discussed various aspects of these issues. The films also educated the students about various countries and cultures of South Asia, and were an extremely enriching experience. The final session concluded with closing remarks by Ms. Tannu Sharma and Dr. Saumya Gupta and Ms. Mitu Varma. The success of this film festival, with a full house for all 7 sessions, will be a catalyst for more such endeavours towards visual storytelling!!
