On 15 October 2026, the JDMC Alumnae Association, under the aegis of the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), organised an alumnae talk on "Who Gets to Speak for the Planet?" in Room No. 48 of Janki Devi Memorial College. The session featured Ms. Malavika Varma, an alumna of the college and currently a Senior Communications Leader.

The programme began with the Principal, Prof. Swati Pal, welcoming Ms. Malavika Varma with a sapling. Ms. Varma then shared her professional journey and recalled her college days, when she pursued a B.A. in Sociology at JDMC from 2005 to 2008. She encouraged students to embrace hard work, patience, and continuous learning, explaining that clarity about one's future often develops through experience and consistent effort.

During the session, she discussed important issues such as environmental protection, climate change, women's roles, and sustainable development. She highlighted how climate change disproportionately affects women and vulnerable communities. She also shared an example of a village in Bhopal where work is carried out with children with special needs, emphasising equality, sensitivity, and social responsibility.

Ms. Varma also discussed the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals and stressed the importance of collective efforts to protect the planet. She encouraged students to adopt environmentally responsible habits and make small, positive changes in their daily lives. She further shared personal experiences related to photography and her daily routine.

The session included an interactive question-and-answer segment in which students enthusiastically raised their queries. Ms. Varma answered them clearly, offering valuable insights into sustainability, social equality, communication, and setting goals for the future.

The programme concluded with a vote of thanks by Prof. Sudha Upadhyaya, Vice-President of the Alumnae Association who expressed gratitude to Ms. Varma for sharing her valuable insights and inspiring experiences. Overall, the session was informative and inspiring, encouraging students to become socially responsible individuals and contribute actively towards environmental protection.
