Name of the event:	Anupam Haat at Ignite'26
Name of the organizer:	Incubation Program
Type of event:	Intra-college
Objectives of the event:	Our aim is to encourage budding entrepreneurs by supporting their ideas and helping them connect with a wider audience. A range of creative art and craft displays were showcased, inspiring innovation and independent thinking. This initiative provided students with a platform to build confidence and take meaningful steps towards a self-reliant and entrepreneurial future.

Brief Report

Project Anupam, a part of the Incubation Program at Janki Devi Memorial College, put up its stalls at IGNITE'26 and brought a really lively vibe to the event. The team came up with fun interactive games like Mystery Box, Spin the Wheel, and Tip-to-Dare, which kept people engaged and added a lot of excitement throughout the day.

The stalls were open from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and had a good mix of things, from crochet flowers, handmade floral items, resin art, candles, and soaps to face painting and food options like cheesecakes, muffins, pizza puffs, and nacho chaat. There was something for everyone, and you could clearly see the effort and creativity that went into each stall.

A steady crowd visited the space during the event, and many people took their time exploring and interacting. The team also conducted a feedback survey to understand what people liked and what could be improved, so they can make future initiatives even better.

Feedback

The Anupam Haat actually went pretty well. Students who came by seemed interested and spent time going through the stalls instead of just walking past. There was a good mix of handmade things, and a lot of people mentioned that the prices were reasonable, which made them more willing to buy.

The setup wasn't anything too complicated, but it worked in our favour. It was easy to move around, and people could just take their time without feeling rushed. Some stopped to talk, some just looked around quietly, and many ended up picking up things they liked. Overall, it felt like a simple but successful effort where people actually engaged with what was being put out there.

Name of the event:	Anupam Haat at Symphony'26
Name of the organizer:	Incubation Program
Type of event:	Inter-college
Objectives of the event:	Our aim is to focus on empowering new businesses with their creativity, making it easier for them to reach their respective audiences. Various art and craft items were displayed which encouraged creativity and self-sufficiency. To support our goal of grooming young changemakers, this initiative gave students the opportunity to take steps towards a more self-reliant entrepreneurial future.

Brief Report

Project Anupam, under the Incubation Program at Janki Devi Memorial College, presented its creations at Symphony '26, held from 3rd to 5th February. The team organised interactive games such as Mystery Box, Spin the Wheel, and Tip-to-Dare, which encouraged active participation and enhanced the vibrant atmosphere of the event. The stalls, set up daily from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., displayed crochet flowers, DIY floral creations, resin art, handmade candles and soaps, face painting, bakery items such as cheesecakes, muffins, pizza puffs, and nacho chaat, along with interactive games, showcasing the creativity and entrepreneurial spirit of the participants. Over the three days, more than 1,500 visitors explored Anupam Haat, and a survey was conducted to collect feedback and expectations for future initiatives.

Day 1:

On 3rd February, the opening day of Anupam Haat recorded a footfall of approximately 500 visitors. Students and faculty explored the stalls featuring handmade products and bakery items, while actively participating in interactive games. Visitors showed keen interest in the creativity displayed, and stall members engaged with customers by explaining their products and concepts. The lively yet well-organised environment helped build enthusiasm and set a strong foundation for the days that followed.

Day 2:

On 4th February, Anupam Haat witnessed a significant increase in engagement, with around 500 visitors attending the event. The marketplace became more dynamic as interaction between creators and visitors grew. The handmade soap stall and crochet stall gained notable recognition, receiving appreciation for their craftsmanship, product quality, and presentation. Positive word-of-mouth and increased participation contributed to an energetic and engaging atmosphere throughout the day.

Day 3:

On 5th February, the final day recorded a footfall of around 1,000 visitors, making it the most vibrant day of the event. The marketplace remained active throughout the day, reflecting the growing popularity of Anupam Haat. The face painting stall emerged as the main highlight, attracting continuous crowds and adding colour and excitement to the space. Interactive games, handmade products, and bakery items kept visitors engaged, making the final day highly successful and impactful.

Feedback

The Anupam Haat was a huge hit with both students and faculty members. Visitors appreciated the wide variety of affordably priced, handmade, and artistic products, as well as the inclusion of food stalls that enhanced the overall experience. The creativity and effort put into each stall impressed many, making Anupam Haat an engaging and enjoyable experience. Faculty members acknowledged the organising team's dedication and hard work, which played a key role in the event's overall success.

Customers found the event to be well-organised, with elaborate face painting and interactive games adding to the lively atmosphere and improving visitor engagement. Many teachers actively participated, purchased various products, and appreciated the initiative. Overall, the event proved to be successful, impactful, and memorable for all attendees.

Brief Report

On 22nd January 2026, Project Anupam, under the Incubation Program of Janki Devi Memorial College successfully organized a stall setup for embassy delegates visiting under the Know India Program, supported by the Ministry of External Affairs. The stall was thoughtfully designed to reflect the core values of Project Anupam, i.e. sustainability, innovation, and social impact, while highlighting student-driven entrepreneurial efforts.

The stall featured a wide range of products made by the creators of Project Anupam. Students actively interacted with the embassy delegates, presenting the initiative, its vision, and its contribution towards empowering small and local entrepreneurs. The delegates showed keen interest and appreciated the clarity, confidence, and professionalism demonstrated by the students.

The event provided students with a valuable opportunity to engage with international representatives, enhancing their understanding of how social ventures can operate at an international level. Overall, the stall setup served as a significant platform for cultural exchange, learning, and institutional representation.

Feedback

The event received highly positive feedback from the embassy delegates. They appreciated the project's strong social purpose, structured presentation, and student involvement. The event successfully reinforced the importance of sustainable and socially responsible business models.

Events Report 25-26
Incubation Program
Anupam Haat Orientation

Name of the event:	Anupam Haat
Name of the organizer:	Incubation Program
Type of event:	Intra-college
Objectives of the event:	The idea was to provide student creators with a platform to present their work and gain real-life entrepreneurial experience. It aimed to promote creativity, help students develop basic marketing and business skills, and create awareness about self-driven ventures. The event encouraged students to showcase their innovative products and learn by doing.

Brief Report

The Incubation Program of Janki Devi Memorial College organized Anupam Haat on 29th August 2025, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. near the auditorium. The stall featured products from several student creators. The variety of products ranged from hand-made jewelry, home décor items, crochet items, paintings, and other innovative products made by students. It represented the creativity and entrepreneurial culture of the creators, as well as providing an opportunity for students to learn about their products.

The stall experienced active participation throughout. Students and professors visited in large numbers, engaged with one another, and purchased the products. The environment was lively, with visitors being curious and interested in the wide range of products offered. It helped create awareness about student ventures and provided opportunities for the creators to utilize marketing, pricing, and packaging skills.

The incubation team operated the stall smoothly, ensuring no disruption in operations for the whole day. By the end of the day, the stall had gained significant attention, while earning a revenue of Rs. 5030.

Feedback

The response was extremely positive. Students appreciated the wide variety of products on display and admired the effort that had been put in their preparation.

Faculty members also appreciated the idea and highlighted that showcasing and selling products on campus is a good method to promote an entrepreneurial mindset among students. Overall, the event was welcomed and noted as a successful move under the Skill Enhancement Training activities of the Incubation Program.
