4. Music Baithaks

Baithaks have been a part of the journey of Hindustani music since centuries. The tradition of Baithak in Hindustani Classical music involves the artists and the listeners to come together in an informal setting in a relatively small closed space. It is considered the purest form of musical interaction from close quarters.

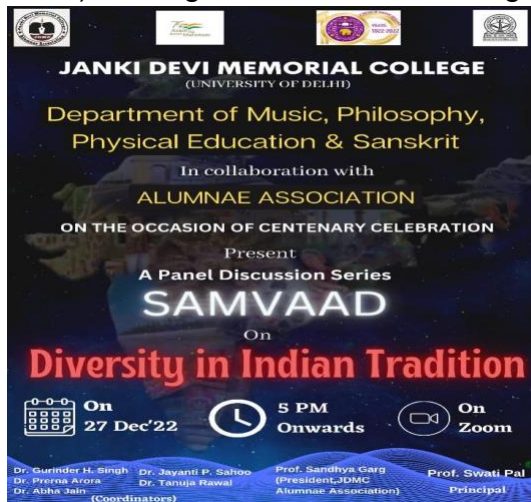

It was held on 23 November 2022, in Music room. Many great performances by legendary artists have taken place in such Baithaks where listeners experienced musical bliss. This 'sitting' is rewarding for the artists as well as the listeners as they interact directly with the audience. Such Baithaks are known to give a more fulfilling musical experience than stage concerts in auditoriums.

A Webinar on Gender Equality - 'A Perspective on Women Musicians' was conducted by Dr. Deepti Bansal Asso. Prof. Music at DRC-DU. She spoke about why Gender equality is necessary for peace and harmony in society and also for full use of human possibilities.

Women musicians have faced the challenge of gender inequality in the field of music - restrictions on learning from a male Guru, restrictions on performance after marriage, ego clash with life partners etc

Some styles of singing like dhrupad, dhamar, quawwali etc were only in male domain. Women musicians struggled hard to make a place in these domains.

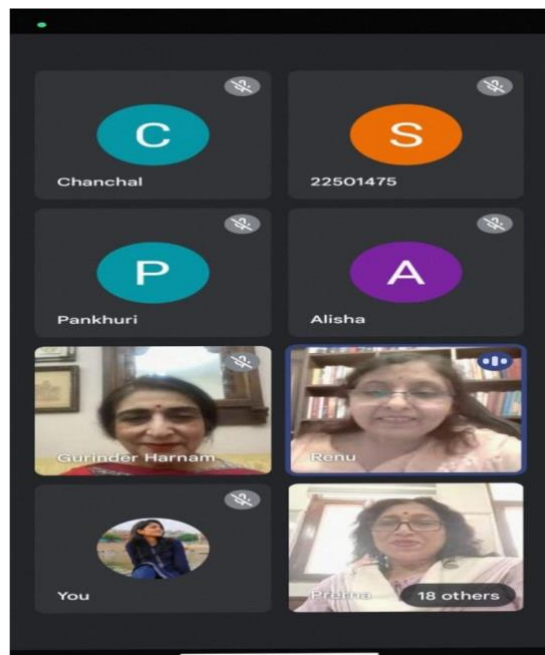

Similarly sarangi, shehnai were also considered to be male handled instruments but few women also excelled in them.
