Brief Report

The Internal Quality Assurance Cell of Janki Devi Memorial College, University of Delhi, organised an orientation session for students on the academic structure and course requirements introduced under the National Education Policy. The session was conducted by Professor Payal Nagpal and witnessed the participation of more than 130 students and teachers.

The primary objective of the programme was to familiarise students with the various components of the undergraduate curriculum and enable them to make informed academic choices. Professor Nagpal provided a comprehensive explanation of the credit scheme applicable to different categories of courses. She discussed the distribution and accumulation of credits during the undergraduate programme and explained their significance for academic progression. The session offered detailed guidance on Generic Elective Courses, Skill Enhancement Courses and Value Addition Courses. Professor Nagpal clarified the purpose of each category, the options available to students and the factors that should be considered while selecting courses. She also addressed important issues related to the choice of major and minor subjects and explained how these choices influence the academic pathways available under the National Education Policy.

The presentation was followed by an interactive question-and-answer session in which both teachers and students participated actively. Students raised queries regarding course selection, credit requirements, major and minor combinations, multidisciplinary options and academic progression. Teachers also shared practical concerns related to the implementation of the curriculum. Professor Nagpal responded to the questions in a clear and detailed manner, thereby resolving several doubts and misconceptions.

The programme was organised under the guidance of the Principal, Professor Swati Pal. The contribution of the IQAC Coordinator, Dr Shiwani Burnwal; IQAC Mentor, Dr Kush Kumar Gayasen; the IQAC Accreditation Support Group; and the faculty members of the college was instrumental in the successful conduct of the session. The orientation proved to be highly informative and beneficial for the students. It provided them with greater clarity regarding the structure of their courses, credit requirements and the academic choices available to them. The enthusiastic participation of more than 130 attendees and the lively interaction during the question-and-answer session contributed significantly to the success of the programme.
