WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY 2023

5 June 2023

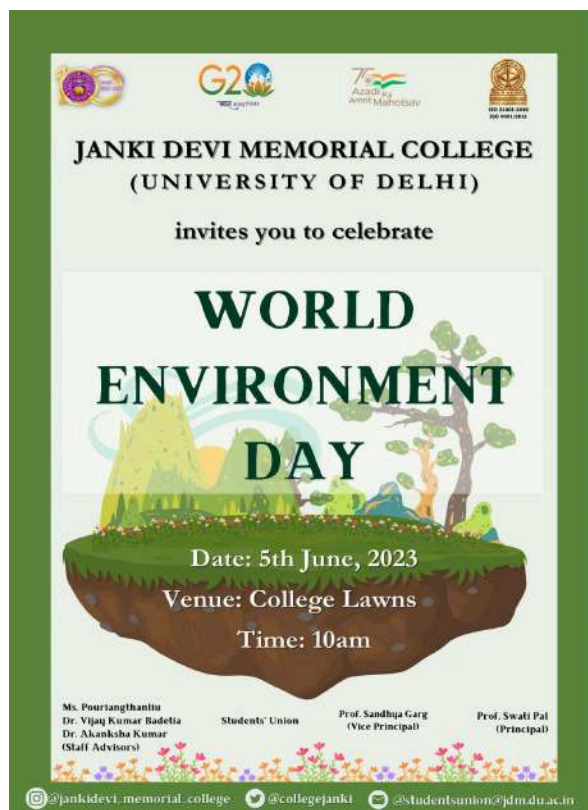

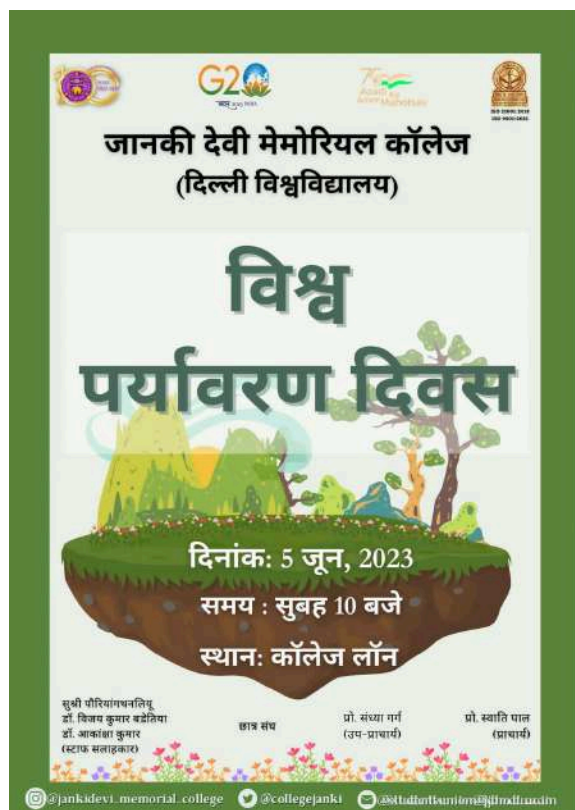

Under the G20 Janbhagidari

Aazadi ka Amrit Mahotsav

The Student's Union of Janki Devi Memorial College in collaboration with Avani-The Environment Club undertook some activities in observance of World Environment Day on 5th June, 2023. The event commenced with the tree plantation drive where we planted the Tecoma stans plant, Lantanas and two figs (anjeer) plants as herbal plants. The aim was to promote the significance of reforestation and bring about a sense of restoration of degraded landscapes.

The students of the environment club made bird feeders and nests out of waste products. Coconut shells, cardboard, plastic bottles and plates were used in a creative way to make the feeders and nests. This activity inculcated the idea of waste management and bird conservation.

Harvested beetroots, okra, spinach, Barbati beans, parsley and celery were plucked from the garden beside krishna hostel. Furthermore, it was learnt how kitchen gardening is an excellent way to have access to fresh and organic food which involves growing vegetables, fruits and herbs on a small piece of land in a planned way to meet the daily food requirements and ensures the reduction of our carbon footprint.

10th November, 2023

Under the auspices of the IQAC, the Student's Union of Janki Devi Memorial College organized a comprehensive mentoring session for the History Department. This session aimed to acquaint students with the campus environment and highlight the array of facilities available at the college. The session took place in the seminar room from 11:45 to 12:45.

The session commenced with a guided tour of the college website, covering essential sections such as the homepage, information centers, e-journal perspective, principal's message, student welfare processes, accreditation details, grievance committee and its mechanisms by Sarvashi Ajmani

Thereafter, Ira Chaturvedi delivered an informative overview of the college's founding principles, its focus on empowering marginalized women, accreditations, environmental initiatives (such as rainwater harvesting, solar energy systems, waste management), and its numerous accolades and awards.

A detailed checklist of the college facilities was presented, encompassing classrooms, administrative blocks, various department rooms, hostel accommodation, recreational spaces, sports amenities, green initiatives, disability-friendly utilities, library facilities, and multiple societal and club offerings.

Covered the extensive range of centers available at the college, focusing on academic, research, gender equity studies, skill enhancement, and outreach activities and outlined the curriculum as per the New Education Policy.

The various channels for grievance redressal, including student-faculty meetings, infrastructure-related resolutions, canteen issues, IT grievances, exam-related problems, and the availability of grievance forms and complaint boxes were discussed.

Emphasis was laid on the library processes including book issuance, navigation, regulations, timings, and assistance provided to students with disabilities. Additionally, highlighted the presence and services offered by the college counselor, Sanya Ma'am.

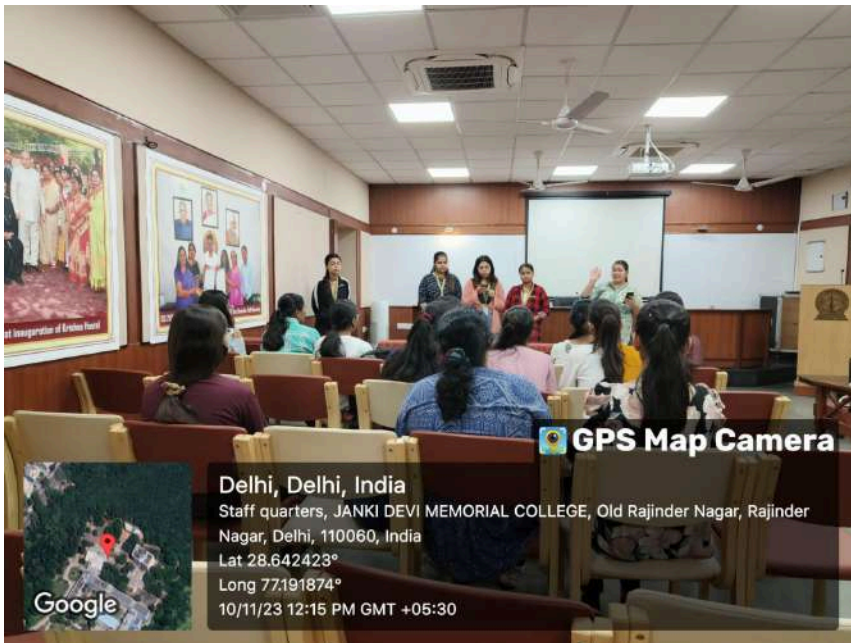

Shivani Jha detailed the functionalities of the Placement Cell, highlighting job opportunities, internships, research positions, workshops, and connections with potential employers.

Namrata Bhola described the methods employed to gauge student satisfaction and learning outcomes through course and program exit forms, student satisfaction forms, parental feedback, and communication of learning outcomes. Additionally, addressed the collection of student preferences for add-on courses through Google forms.

Shivani Rawat outlined the upcoming topics for discussion, including cleanliness and discipline awareness, issues related to placement hesitations, strategies for research improvement, education trips, streamlined grievance resolution, facilities' feedback (especially washrooms), emergency contact details, and additional courses.

The comprehensive overview of the college's facilities, academic resources, and grievance redressal mechanisms provided students with a clear understanding of the institution's support system. Engaging discussions on the New Education Policy, placement opportunities, and feedback mechanisms ensured that students left the session feeling informed, empowered, and equipped to navigate their academic journey effectively within the college premises.

Union Meeting for the G-20 Event

17th November, 2023

Under the aegis of IQAC

The event scheduled for November 20th is meticulously planned to commence at 12:30 sharp. The program will commence with a guard of honor, setting a tone of respect and discipline. The discipline team is entrusted with vigilance around crucial areas, namely the auditorium passage and the canteen. A key reminder is that all cell phones should be turned off throughout the event to maintain a focused environment.

For the Morning session in the Seminar Room, the Union Students along with the staff members should be present. The cleanliness team is assigned specific areas to ensure the venue remains tidy. A strict dress code of blue and white is emphasized for all the Union Members. Absolute silence is expected to be maintained backstage and the discipline team will be strategically placed in each wing to manage order.

The Tilak Ceremony is scheduled to take place near the selfie point. A comprehensive task list to be devised, clearly assigning duties to all union members. A vibrant G20-themed rangoli near the reception will add a festive touch to the surroundings. Arrangements for the seminar room and the auditorium table include provisions like sanitizers, tissue boxes, only glass bottles and glasses, coasters, and tea and coffee sachets.

Lunch arrangements are planned in the principal's office, and staff members are also allocated discipline duties. The event is designed for smooth execution, ensuring every detail contributes to a successful and well-managed occasion.

The International Conference on Enhancing Quality and Achieving Excellence in Higher Education Institutions (HEIs), held on 28th February 2024 at the Seminar Hall & Committee Room of Janki Devi Memorial College, University of Delhi, was a collaborative effort between the college's Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) and the Centre of Assessments for Excellence (COAE). The conference aimed to foster discussions and strategies for improving quality assurance in HEIs. With participants hailing from various colleges and universities across Delhi and abroad, including those joining remotely via Zoom, the event was inclusive and globally impactful. The conference comprised three sessions, each addressing different aspects of quality assurance. Dr. Shilpa Chaudhary, a professor at Janki Devi Memorial College, delivered the welcome address post which Principal Prof. Swati Pal addressed the gathering.

The first session included discussions on ISO 21001 and its transformative approach by Dr. Arti Khosla, insights on NAAC & ISO 21001 mapping by Prof. Sitaram Soni, and ensuring authentic ISO 21001 certification by Mr. Anil Jauhri.

Additionally, an interactive open house session was conducted post-lunch, where participants were encouraged to ask questions and engage with the panelists. Best practices for quality assurance were discussed during this session.

In the final session, Mr. David Bong, Co-founder & CEO of Avant Assessment, joined via Zoom to discuss ensuring inclusive & equitable quality education for all. Dr. Jamel Smida, Director of Quality Centre at AI Maarefa University, Riyadh, discussed the internal and external advantages of ISO 21001. Ms. Marie Louis Stoll-Stefan, CEO of LIFE School GmbH, Wiesbaden, Germany, talked about the importance of ISO 21001 in the current world of technology and AI. The session concluded with a discussion involving the panellists, summarising the key points discussed throughout the day.

The International Conference provided a platform for educators, administrators, and stakeholders to exchange ideas and best practices for enhancing quality and achieving excellence in Higher Education Institutions.
