The theme for this year's Vigilance Awareness Week was, "Corruption Free India for a Developed Nation". The topics for the debate followed the same tone and were as follows:

1. Corruption is Gender Neutral
2. Corrupt Politicians Who Work Are Better Than Honest Ones Who Don't!
3. Corruption is the price we pay for democracy

The event began with the Integrity Pledge which was taken by all the participants and audience present there. This was followed by the introduction of the judge, Dr. Navpreet Kaur. Dr. Navpreet Kaur teaches Economics at Janki Devi Memorial College, University of Delhi. She did her Ph.D. in Economics from Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. Her research interests include rural development, agrarian studies and labour economics. She has published her research in journals such as Journal of Agrarian Change, International Critical Thought, Capital and Class, World Review of Political Economy and Review of Agrarian Studies. She has also published in the wire, the newsclick and frontline. Her newspaper articles articulate her views on agriculture, food security, employment and public policy.

The participants then represented their views on the above mentioned topics. Each participant also fielded interjections from the audience.

The winners of the competition are as follows:

Ist Prize: Iffat Aurooj, B.A. Hons. Political Science, Ist Year.

IInd Prize: Medha Tushti, B.A. Hons. Political Science, IInd Year.

IIIrd Prize: Umama Ahmed, B.A. Hons. Philosophy, IInd Year.

Best Interjection: Medha Tushti, B.A. Hons. Political Science, IInd Year.

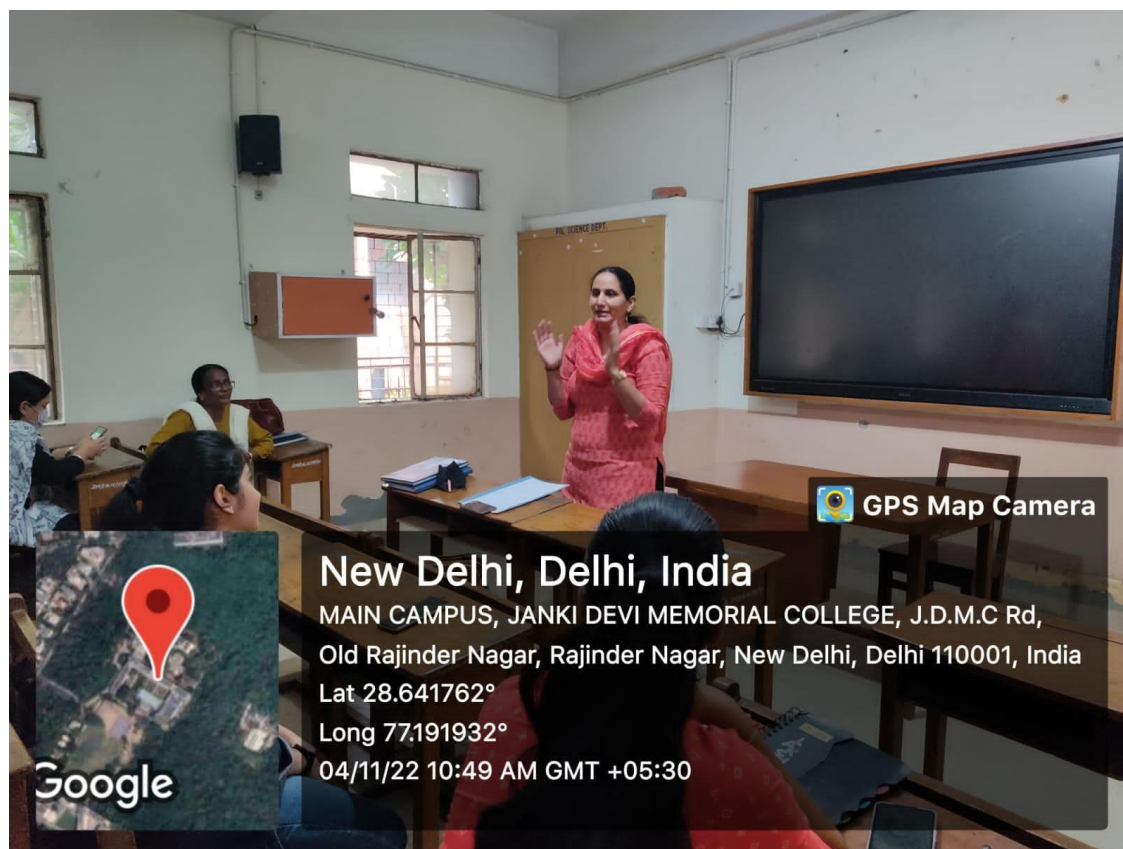

The Judge, Dr. Navpreet Kaur, also addressed the participants and the audience and gave them some advice and suggestions to become more effective debators. All the students were enthusiastic and participated with great zeal. The competition also provided the newly enrolled first years with an opportunity to access different opinions and viewpoints as well as display their talent.
